Larry Mack Bond, 68, of Rising Star passed away Sunday, December 22, 2019. Graveside Service will be 10 AM Tuesday, December 24, 2019 at Elm Cemetery, Rising Star, Texas.

Larry was born December 3rd, 1951 in Abilene to L.D. and Louise Bond. He graduated Rising Star high school and attended Cisco College. Larry began a life and family with Connie Bond that blessed him with 2 boys. He worked as a blacksmith for 15 years building and fixing things for the community. He believed in the Baptist Church and spent most of his free time fishing the Pecan Bayou, hunting and riding around on country roads. Larry was a man of few words but if you were his friend he was always happy to talk for a bit. Larry was the reflection of a country boy who loved his family and God by enjoying the rivers, fields and country around him with his family doing the things he loved.

“ I was introduced to Larry and Connie Bond when I moved to Rising Star and met Ralph and Kevin.

I was always welcomed in their home and they were always nice and kind to me.

I remember when Ralph, Kevin and I were at the Bond residence and all three of us were getting dressed up as the Powder Puff Cheerleaders for the girls football game, and Larry kept giggling and laughing at us calling us pretty and making fun!! That memory has always stayed with me.

Larry was a good oh boy in my book and I was glad to know him!

RIP brother Larry and know that you touched my life and gave me memories! Hold down Heaven for us and when I get there, we drink a couple of Baby Bulls!!! You know!!! God Bless
